Purchena

€64,000

A surprisingly large townhouse for sale in the town of Purchena here in the Almanzora Valley. The front door opens into the first of two lounges. Off the lounge is the fitted kitchen which has a larger space included and there is a spacious bathroom with bath and vanity unit. A corridor leads to an extra large lounge area with fireplace, with the three bedrooms leading off the lounge. The bedrooms enjoy undisturbed views across the neighbouring countryside. Also off this lounge is access to a basement area, ideal for storage or extra living space. Steps lead up to the roof terrace to provide plenty of outside space with nice views and there is a second terrace which could easily be connected up. The property benefits from new windows, plumbing and the majority of electrics have been replaced and renewed.

Purchena has all amenities including health centre and municipal pool in the summer. The house is located a short stroll from the square where parking is available and the weekly market is held.
